

Unique Identifiers

Will providers have the ability to know what PPS a patient is attributed to so that when a patient receives services, we can appropriately track and report for our internal purposes as well as external?

We appreciate your post Beverly. To best answer your question, can you provide some additional detail? For example, are you interested in attributed patient information at each of the providers real-time or more of an aggregated reporting? And what are you hoping to achieve with the data? Thank you Beverly
