

40 days and 40 nights...

I know that across the state we are all eagerly awaiting the release of the updated DSRIP plan application today. We expect the red-line document to be posted within the next few hours, and I'm sure that many of us will be spending a good portion of the next 24-hours with our noses down in its pages. Once we do get the document there will be 40 days remaining for PPSs to finalize and submit their applications – no small task!

There will be an incredible number of questions, concerns and ideas emerging across the state over the upcoming days. The DST is creating materials to address some of these, and is in constant contact with PPSs in order to help navigate others. I truly believe that this forum can help each and every person working on this application by allowing them to share these questions, concerns and ideas, and to leverage the fact that we're all in this together.

Share, collaborate and connect. Because in one way this group is really just a microcosm of the DSRIP project as a whole: by coming together we can achieve much more than we can in isolation.

It is almost 6.30 pm. I wonder if the application will be out today.
